Whitman-Crocker Nuptials.

SAN FRANCISCO. — Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Templeton Crocker for the marriage of their sister, Miss Jennie Adelina Crocker and Malcolm Douglas Whitman of New York. The ceremony will be celebrated in St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in San Mateo at high noon on July 16 and will be followed by an elaborate breakfast and reception at the magnificent home of Miss Crocker in Hillsborough.

Miss Crocker returned from New York on Sunday and went immediately to Napa, where she spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Martin at "Stag's Leap," the beautiful country home of the Horace Blanchard Chases which the Martins are occupying this summer. Mrs. Eugene Murphy, Miss Marjorie Josselyn, Mrs. Claude Boettcher of Denver and her daughter, Miss Ruth Boettcher, and Peter Martin were also guests at the Martin home over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Martin and Miss Crocker came to the city on Tuesday and have been spending several days at the St. Francis Hotel. Mrs. Martin and Miss Crocker have been devoted friends for years and at Miss Crocker's wedding Mrs. Martin will attend her as matron of honor. Her little daughter, Miss Mary Martin, will be one of the flower girls, and it is probable that Mr. Whitman's little daughter will also strew flowers in the path of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Templeton Crocker returned during the week on the Monocilia from Honolulu, where they have made a visit of several weeks. Mrs. Crocker as Miss Helene Irwin has been a frequent visitor in the islands and numbers of her friends there by the score. Mrs. Harriet Dillingham, who was attractive Margaret Hyde-Smith, entertained elaborately for Mr. and Mrs. Crocker the latter being one of her dearest friends. Mrs. Eleanor Hyde-Smith, who is established in a charming home near her daughter, was also a frequent hostess in honor of the Crockers. Mr. and Mrs. William G. Irwin deferred their homecoming for a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Crocker made a very pleasant stay at the Moana Hotel on Waikiki Beach, where they were the guests of the Outrigger Club. The Myrtle Rowing Club and the Yacht Club were also unfailing in their endeavors to make the Crockers' visit enjoyable.

Mr. and Mrs. Crocker are again in their home, "Uplands," in San Mateo, where they anticipate remaining the greater part of the summer. — Examiner.

Miss Gilhus Weds. ABERDEEN, Wash., June 11.—A romance that began in the Hawaiian islands some years ago culminated Saturday night in the wedding of Helen B. Gilhus and Charles H. Hull at the home of the bride's mother, 806 West Second street. Rev. C. W. McDermoth officiating. Only immediate relatives of the contracting families were present.

Mrs. Hull was born on the island of Maui, as were in fact all the six children of the Gilhus family. Her father was the late Captain Gilhus, master of a whaler in the South Seas for many years, and he made his home on the islands. After his death and about a year ago the family moved here. Mr. Hull, who was in business on Maui, followed and the wedding resulted. The young couple expect shortly to return to the islands.

Miss Gustave Schaefer Entertained.

The San Francisco Examiner says: One of the unexpected pleasures of the week was the big tea given on Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Clarence Grange, in Broadway. The invitations were followed by the tea so quickly that little time for anticipation was left, but everyone responded to Mrs. Grange's hospitality, many coming in from the country for the occasion. Mrs. Grange received with Mrs. Gustave E. Schaefer, remembered here as Miss Lydia Gibbons, sister of Mrs. J. Charles Green, who has been living in Honolulu since her marriage about two years ago. Mrs. L. Ward Flaherty of Washington, D. C., sister of Mrs. Grange, was also a guest of honor. Mrs. Flaherty is here for the summer.

Mrs. Grange had her home done in a style to suggest summertime, with a quantity of flowers everywhere and the western light gleaming in a prismatic glow through a colored window. A Hawaiian orchestra played lullaby airs in melodious accord, with the genial afternoon. Most of the guests wore summer apparel, and pretty dresses galore added to the charm of the occasion.

Mrs. Grange wore a rose-colored brocade dress, with a pretty lace fichu, her superb collection of opals enhancing the beauty of her attire. Mrs. Schaefer wore a chiffon dress of pale blue and yellow. Incidentally, Mrs. Schaefer looks quite as pretty as she did as a girl, being considered one of the prettiest brides of the season in which she was married.

Mrs. Flaherty wore a dress of chiffon flowered with pale orchid colors. Mrs. Samuel L. Naphthaly was one of the most stunningly attired women at the tea, appearing in the new magpie combination of white and black. The dress was of creamy flit lace, made over black satin, the design being as simple as possible. The big straw chapeau was of black, with a superb sweep of white feon algeettes. The white and black were very becoming to Mrs. Naphthaly's piquant style.

Mrs. Richard J. Sill, who is just back from a most interesting world tour of two and a half years, was greeted by many of her old friends. Her gown was a dove-gray crepe, heavily embroidered.

Miss Beth Taylor, the pretty ingenue of the Alcazar Stock Company, looked the typical summer girl which the artists delight in using to adorn magazine covers. Her dress of cool green, and white chiffon symbolized the real summer of the leafy, sunny outing days at fashionable resorts.

Linnemann-Gertz Wedding. The home of Mrs. Sarah Gertz on King street was the setting for a very pretty wedding yesterday when Miss Irene Gertz, the daughter of the house, became the bride of Mr. Arthur Linnemann. The reception room was decorated with greens and the ceremony was performed by the Reverend John Erdman, under a canopy of pink and white asters. The bride wore a gown of heavy white silk trimmed with real lace and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Eleanor Vogel, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of blue confection over blue satin. Miss Gertz was given into the bridegroom's keeping by her brother, Mr. Adolph Gertz, and Mr. George Bustard acted as best man.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Linnemann left for Haleiwa, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Complimentary Luncheon. Mrs. Walter Coombs entertained at luncheon recently in compliment to Miss Anna Tucker, whose engagement to Dr. C. R. Ramus has been announced recently. Gift baskets looped together with pink tulle and filled with white asters were arranged on the table. The favors were tiny slippers filled with rice, and heart-shaped cards marked the place of each guest. Covers were laid for seven.

Manoa Card Club. The Manoa Card Club was entertained by Mrs. F. A. Potter on Monday afternoon at her home at Waikiki. The prize was awarded to Mrs. Randolph G. Moore. Mrs. Potter's guests included Mrs. Charles Bon, Mrs. Otto Bierbach, Mrs. William Goetz, Mrs. Fred Lyser, Mrs. Samuel De Freest, Mrs. Clegg, Mrs. Marston Campbell, Mrs. Herbert Simpson, Mrs. Philip Frear and Mrs. John Drew.

Getting Ready for the Juvenile

Bostonians. Several theater parties have been arranged for the opening of the opera house to the Juvenile-Bostonians on Tuesday night and the florists are conserving their brightest and sweetest blooms for the demands that may be made upon them. Reports from Hawaii are most pleasing to the friends of the little actresses in Honolulu, and their friends are legion.

Practically the same social attention given them in Honolulu "was their portion on the other islands. Wherever they have played flowers have been showered upon them and one of the thespians wrote friends here that at Walluku it seemed as though they must be dreaming over the last night at the Liberty. Tomorrow will be in special eruption for their benefit. It will be their first view and from reports received it is probable the display of fireworks will be unusually attractive.

BIJOU PROGRAM HAS

THREE GOOD ACTS

The Bijou's program for tonight is a very interesting one. Besides the vaudeville program which consists of a sketch team, a trio of grand opera singers and a comedian, there are a number of pictures that are unusually interesting, taken from any view point.

The Olive Gypsy trio have an unusually good and true life imitation of a mainland street scene with the old blind Italian playing the organ, the son singing, and the daughter passing the hat around. They will introduce other quaint street scenes. One of the features of their act is the singing of Cherib-ber-bi.

Low Wheeler will discard his burnt cork makeup and will appear as the kid who don't know nothin'. He will be heard in new songs. A very good orchestra in a twenty-minute playlet entitled "A Country Home." The act is the evening.

strongly played and is well worth seeing.

The pictures are all of the latest and interesting subjects and will wind up a very good Saturday night program.

At the Empire motion pictures exclusively will be shown from seven o'clock on. The subjects depict comedy and pathos or rather go from grave to gay. A very good orchestra will render popular selections during the evening.
